In VLC the option is Working, when I'm selecting filter option, and then I'm pressing Save Filters button and then pressing Filters and then I'm filtering the media file. So I would like to filter the file and write the files filtered into a file. How I can write files filtered into a file in C++ vlcplayer? I'm using vlcj. A: I'm using vlcj and vlc player as player. In VLC the option is Working, when I'm selecting filter option, videodecoder or video decoder is the filter you are looking for. If the filter is not working as you think, you could try enabling the file filter : If the second option is not working either, the file is not well recognised as a valid video file. I would like to filter the file and write the files filtered into a file. You could try playing it with the media lib like this : bool videoPlayer::openPlayer(const string &file, int w, int h, int size, int fps, bool loop) { auto selected = selectedVideoPlayer(); if (!selected) { return false; } player.open(selected, file, w, h, size, fps, loop); return true; } void videoPlayer::play() { player.play(); } void videoPlayer::pause() { player.pause(); } void videoPlayer::stop() { player.stop(); } edd6d56e20
